Press Release Chennai June 15th 2012. (Vaso-Meditech Pvt Ltd, exclusive distributor and clinical support for EECP in India).

Vaso-Meditech Pvt Ltd the distributor for EECP in India launches “SIMCARDIO” new advanced simulation software for EECP treatment training. The software was designed and developed by Vaso-Meditech Pvt Ltd Clinical Research and development wing to provide support for the growing EECP therapist and Physicians. The simulation software will be included in EECP training as a part of an advance training program. The clinical benefit of EECP therapy directly is in relation with accuracy of inflation and deflation timing. The physician can enhance the benefit to the EECP patient by accurately changing the inflation and deflation timing as per the heart rate and pressure change.

This software will be provided with training mode so that the physician can change the timing and see the impact of timing in increasing the blood flow to the heart muscle. The software will come with two options one is the partial license and another is full license.

The full license version will be available at the price of Rs 20,000 and the partial license will be available at the price of Rs 16,500. (Total usage is restricted to 50 hours).
